

EARTHWAYS

RECONNECTING PEOPLE, LAND AND NATURE

Learn how to turn your vegetable garden into a self-regulating ecosystem

Do you want to grow delicious food in your garden?

Do you want the garden to also be beautiful, efficient, good for wild life, highly productive and easy to maintain?

Then this workshop is for you!

Over 3 days, Ludwig Appeltans from Earth Ways will be introducing permaculture, forest gardening and organic growing principles. Together we will make a plan to transform your garden into a rich, self-regulating habitat; a natural haven that nurtures and sustains people and wildlife alike.

Dates & Time: Sat March 17, Sun March 18 & Sat March 31 2012
from 10 AM to 16.30 PM

Venue: Loch na Mhoid Community Garden, Black Isle.
Car sharing can be organised

Price: Sliding scale £75 - £90, Concessions available. If you can afford it, please sponsor someone. £30 deposit reserves your place.

Only 10 places available - to register, contact Ludwig:

www.earth-ways.co.uk info@earth-ways.co.uk 07760142495