Helping you find safer and quieter routes for exploring the Black Isle by bike Transition Black Isle aims to encourage more people to cycle around our beautiful peninsula. Our community mapping endeavours during the million miles project have produced several useful tools to highlight safer routes that avoid busier roads.

These Community Cycle Links have been produced by Lachlan McKeggie and Peter Elbourne as part of Transition Black Isle’s Million Miles project. Funded by the Scottish Government’s Climate Challenge Fund between 2012 and 2015, the project helped Black Isle households discover the joys of safer, greener, healthier and more sociable ways of travelling.

This route starts in the free car park close to the centre of North Kessock ①. Turn right and cycle along Main Street past the hotel and shop. After the old pier, take the first left signed 'Old Craigton Road' ②. Continue climbing up, follow the road around a sharp left bent and carry on up to the top on the hill towards the A9. When you reach the segregated cycle track ③, turn right and follow the path all the way over the bridge. On the other side, continue past the steps and take the next right down the hill ④. This track takes you down to Longman Drive ⑤. Follow the blue National Cycle Network signs to the city centre (a further 2.7km / 1.7 miles, 10-15 minutes).
